General terms and conditions for events

I. Scope of application

The General Terms and Conditions apply to contracts and the provision on a rental basis of conference, banqueting and event rooms in the hotel for the running of events such as banquets, seminars, conferences, etc. as well as for all other associated services and supplies provided by the hotel. The subletting or leasing of the rooms, surface areas or showcases and invitations to interviews, sales events or other types of events require the prior written permission of the hotel.

Business conditions of the event organiser only apply if they were expressly agreed beforehand in writing.

II. Conclusion of contract, contractual partners, contractual liability

The contract is concluded when the hotel accepts the event organiser's order (confirmation); these are contractual parties.

2. If the customer is not the event organiser itself or if a commercial mediator or organiser is engaged by the event organiser, then these together are joint and severally liable with the event organiser for all obligations arising from the contract.

3. The hotel is liable for its obligations arising from the contract. This liability is limited to deficiency in performance which, except in the area typical of its performance, is put down to intent or gross negligence on the part of the hotel. Furthermore, the event organiser is obliged to inform the hotel in good time of the possibility of exceptionally significant damage occurring.

III. Services, prices, payment

1. The hotel is obliged to provide the services requested by the event organiser and promised by the hotel.

2. The event organiser is obliged to pay the prices agreed with the hotel for these services. This also applies to services provided and expenses incurred by the hotel for third parties in connection with the event.

3. The agreed prices include all applicable VAT. If the time between conclusion of the contract and the event exceeds 4 months, and if there is an increase in the prices generally calculated by the hotel for services of this kind, then the contractually agreed price can be increased appropriately, though by 10% at most.

4. Hotel bills without a due date are payable without deduction within 10 days of receipt. In the case of arrears, the hotel is entitled to charge interest 4% higher than the respective bank rate of the German Bundesbank. The event organiser reserves the right to assert lower damages, while the hotel reserves the right to assert higher damages.

5. The hotel is entitled to request an appropriate advance payment at any time. The amount of the advance payment and the payment deadlines can be agreed in writing in the contract.

IV. V. Withdrawal by the hotel

1. If the advance payment is not made, including after a suitable grace period set by the hotel with threats of withdrawal, the hotel is entitled to withdraw from the contract.

2. Furthermore, the hotel is entitled to withdraw extraordinarily from the contract for objectively justifiable reasons, for example if

* Events are booked while providing misleading or false details of important facts

e.g. by the event organiser or related to the purpose of the event;

the hotel is justified in assuming that the event can endanger the smooth running of the hotel, its security or its reputation with the public without the hotel's managerial or organisational staff being to blame for this.

* A violation of 1.2 above exists

3. The hotel must inform the event organiser without delay that it is exercising the right of withdrawal.

4. The event organiser will have no claim to compensation against the hotel except in cases of intentional or gross negligent behaviour by the hotel.

V. Withdrawal by the event organiser (cancellation)

1. If the event organiser withdraws, the hotel is entitled to bill for the agreed rent if subletting is not possible.

2. If the event organiser withdraws between the eighth and the fourth week before the date of the event the hotel is entitled, in addition to the rental price, to bill for 35% of the turnover lost on the food, and to bill for 70% of the turnover lost on the food if withdrawal occurs at a later time.

3. The turnover on the food is calculated according to the following formula: $\text{Menu price for a banquet} \times \text{the number of people}$

If no price was agreed for the menu, the most inexpensive 3-course menu for the respective valid event offer is used as a basis.

4. Expenses saved in accordance with Nos. 2 and 3 are thus satisfied. The event organiser reserves the right to request proof of lower damages, while the hotel reserves the right to provide proof of higher damages.

VI. Changes to the number of participants and the date of the event

1. The banqueting department must be informed of a change to the number of participants of more than 5% at the latest 5 working days before the event begins; the hotel's permission is required for this.

2. A reduction in the number of participants by a maximum of around 5% is recognised by the hotel when billing takes place. For deviations above and beyond this, the originally registered number of participants less 5% is used as a basis.

3. If a deviation upwards occurs, the actual number of participants is charged for.

4. Where deviations of more than 10% are concerned, the hotel is entitled to reset the agreed prices as well as to switch the confirmed rooms, unless this is unreasonable for the event organiser.

5. If the times when the event begins or ends are postponed without the prior written permission of the hotel, the hotel can bill for the additional costs of the related work, unless the hotel is at fault.

VII. Food and drink brought by the event organiser

As a rule, the event organiser may not bring food and drink to events. Exceptions to this rule require a written agreement with the banqueting department. In such cases a contribution to cover the overheads will be billed for.

VIII. Technical equipment and connections

1. If the hotel obtains technical and other types of equipment from third parties for the event organiser at its instigation, it acts on behalf of, on the authority of and for the account of the event organiser. The event organiser is liable for the careful handling and the proper return of same. It releases the hotel from all third-party claims arising from the provision of this equipment.

2. The use by the event organiser of its own electrical systems while also using the hotel's electricity supply mains requires the hotel's written permission. To the extent that the hotel is not responsible for them, faults or damage to the system's technical systems caused by use of these devices occur at the event organiser's expense. The electricity costs arising from this use may be calculated and charged by the hotel in the form of a flat-rate sum.

3. With the hotel's agreement, the event organiser is entitled to use its own telephone, fax and data transferral equipment. The hotel can request a connection charge for this.

4. If suitable systems in the hotel are not used because the event organiser is connecting its own systems, the hotel can charge a fee for non-use.

5. Whenever possible, faults in the technical equipment or other equipment provided by the hotel are remedied immediately. Payments cannot be withheld or reduced if the hotel is not responsible for these faults.

IX. Loss of or damage to objects brought by the event organiser

1. Exhibition-related objects or other types of objects, including personal objects, brought along by the event organiser are used in the event rooms in the hotel at the event organiser's risk. Except in cases of gross negligence or intent on its part, the hotel assumes no liability for their loss, destruction or damage.

2. Decorative materials brought by the event organiser must be in accordance with the fire safety regulations. The hotel is entitled to request official proof of this. Due to possible damage, the installation and affixing of objects must be agreed in advance with the hotel.

3. The exhibition-related objects or other types of objects must be removed without delay after the end of the event. If the event organiser fails to do so, the hotel may remove and store the objects at the event organiser's expense. If the objects remain in the event room, the hotel can charge for room rental for the duration. The event organiser reserves the right to request proof of lower damages, while the hotel reserves the right to provide proof of higher damages.

X. Event organiser's liability for damages

1. The event organiser is liable for all damage to buildings or stock caused by participants in or visitors to the event, employees, other third parties belonging to it or itself.

2. The hotel can request that the event organiser provide appropriate securities (insurance, deposits, guarantees).

XI. Final provisions

1. Changes or amendments to the contract, order acceptance or these Terms and Conditions for Events must be made in writing. Unilateral changes or amendments by the event organiser are ineffective.

2. The place of performance and payment is the location of the hotel.

3. The exclusive place of jurisdiction for commercial transactions - also for cheque and exchange disputes - is the location of the hotel. If a contractual partner fulfils the requirements of § 38, Paragraph 1 of the ZPO (Swiss Civil Code) and has no general place of jurisdiction in Germany, the place of jurisdiction is the location of the hotel.

4. German law applies.

If individual provisions of these General Terms and Conditions for Events become ineffective or void for, the effectiveness of the remaining provisions is unaffected thereby. The statutory provisions apply.

Addendum for the CITY Hotel for events continuing after midnight

Events that continue beyond midnight on the day of the event are charged for at a rate of €26.00 per hour and service person present.

Valid from January 1, 2023
